COUNTY SUPERVISORS

The Board of Supervisors met in regular session Monday, March 19, at 10 a. m., there being present Dr. C. V. Thompson, presiding; Thomas L. Hickey, Wm. H. Brown, John MacBain and Jos. M. Francis.

The minutes of the meetings of March 5th and 12th were read and approved.

Supervisor Hickey addressed the board in behalf of a particularly needy family at Daly City. The family is now receiving county aid in the sum of $8 a month. On motion of Hickey seconded by Francis this allowance was incerased to $18 a month.

On motion of Brown seconded by Hickey county aid in the sum of $8 a month was granted a person in destitute circumstances living at San Mateo. Similar action was taken in the case of a person in ill-health living in Redwood City, on motion of MacBain seconded by Hickey.

A communication was received from the clerk of the city of South San Francisco asking what disposition had been made of the contract for that part of the Mission road adjoining South San Francisco, and also the lighting contract for the same road thart had been accepted by the board during the month of December, 1916. On motion of Hickey seconded by Brown the clerk was directed to communicate with the city clerk of South San Francisco and notify him that the road contract was in the hands of the supervisor of the first district having been referred to him at a previous meeting. E. H. Florence district manager of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, stated that the reason the contract had not been carried out and the electric lights installed was on account of the road being outside the Colma Lighting District. It was thereupon ordered on motion of Hickey seconded by MacBain that the contract with the gas and electric company be cancelled.

A communication was read from the Burlingame Woman's Club endorsing the petition of the women of Millbrae asking for the revocation of the license granted to Henry Partington to conduct a saloon at the place known as the "Bungalow" at Millbrae. Following the filing of this the clerk read a lengthy communication from Judge E. F. Fitzpatrick of Redwood City, in which he revived the history of the saloon in question, showing how Dr. C. W. Goodhall had purchased the Bungalow property from John Foppiano with the express understanding and assurance that a license would be granted the place. On the strength of this assurance, Judge Fitzpatrick stated that Goodhall had gone ahead improving the property at considerable expense and then rented the saloon to Henry Partington, the party who had just been granted the license. In the mean time Foppiano had built another saloon close to the "Bungalow" and had secured permission from the supervisors to transfer his license to the new place. This action on the part of the supervisors, Judge Fitzpatrick claimed was illegal. He further claimed that there is no provision of the law which would authorize the board to reconsider its action in regard to granting the license.

Following the reading of the communication, the petition of the Millbrae women was ordered filed on motion of Hickey seconded by Brown.

Mrs. Annie M. Godfrey, a member of the Burlingame Woman's Club and the Parent-Teachers' Association of that place, addressed the board and spoke of the work the women of Burlingame and San Mateo are doing toward keeping vice of all kinds out of San Mateo. She asked the supervisors to give their earnest cooperation in this work and help to keep San Mateo clean.

Mrs. George Douglass, press representative of the Burlingame Woman's Club, also addressed the board along the same lines of Mrs. Godfrey.

On motion of Hickey, seconded by Brown, a renewal of state aid was granted in the case of four half-orphan children at San Bruno.

Miss Anne Bell Bailey, county librarian, submitted her report showing expenditures for the month of February of $282.55.

J. R. Eubanks, superintendent of the County Farm and Hospital, submitted his report showing that he cared for 68 inmates during February, seven of whom had been discharged and two died.

On motion of Hickey seconded by Francis it was ordered that state aid heretofore allowed the children of a widow living in the first township be discontinued on account of the mother having remarried.

Supervisor Hickey brought up the matter of the contract for the street and sidewalk work in Lomita Park that had been awarded about a month ago to E. H. Sundberg and which had not yet been started. The clerk informed the board that the reason of the delay was on account of the failure of the attorney for the improvement district to publish the notice of award of contract and to complete other matters in connection with the proceedings.

The matter was turned over to District Attorney Swart and Surveyor Neuman to straighten out.

The clerk submitted a report in connection with the claim of Hensley, Green and Company for the rent of the San Bruno jail, showing by the minutes of the board that the supervisors agreed to share the use of the building with the municipality. The claim had been held up by the board on the ground that the jail had been used for some time by the city of San Bruno, no further action was taken in the matter.

County Surveyor Neuman submitted plans and specifications for a septic tank to take care of the sewerage at the county farm and hospital. The plans and specifications were accepted on motion of MacBain seconded by Francis and the clerk directed to advertise for bids.

Plans and specifications for driving a tunnel in the hills at the County Farm and Hospital to supply the institution with water were next presented by Engineer Neuman and were adopted on motion of MacBain seconded by Brown.

Supervisor Hickey addressed the board in reference to a destitute case at Daly City where the father of a family of eight children was ill in the hospital and the mother was striving to support the children. On motion of MacBain seconded by Hickey the board voted the family temporary aid in the sum of $16 a month.

Laurence Musso of Farallone appeared before the board and asked for damages done his lot at that place in the construction of a road by the county at the time of the repairing of the Farallone fill The matter was referred to Surveyor Neuman by Chairman Thompson.

This being the time set for hearing in the matter of the petition for the abandonment of certain portions of the right of way of the Belmont to Crystal Springs road and no persons appearing in objection to the petition District Attorney Swart had Surveyor Neuman sworn who testified that the road was no longer needed for county highway purposes. The right of way was thereupon ordered abandoned on motion of Brown seconded by MacBain. The same procedure was gone through in regard to the right of way of certain portions of the Menlo Park to Portola road, the motion to abandon the right of way being made by MacBain and seconded by Brown.

The same procedure was gone through in regard to portions of the Colma to Halfmoon Bay right of way the motion to abandon same being made by Brown and seconded by MacBain.

On motion of MacBain seconded by Brown the supervisor of the third district was given permission to place two signs on the old La Honda road, one on the summit and the other near the Week's place declaring the road unsafe fo trravel.

An application was presented by S. Coppa of Colma to conduct dancing in his place of business: The application will be heard on April 2nd.

On motion of MacBain seconded by Brown it was ordered that the claims of the supervisors for expenses incurred in going to the Supervisors' Convention at Sacramento be referred to the district attorney for his opinion.

A claim of Miss Gertrude Pitcher, county purchasing agent, amounting to $100 and being for postage stamps was allowed, on motion of Brown seconded by MacBain.

Roy W. Curran of Redwood City appeared before the board in the matter of the petition that had been presented and granted permitting the formation of a lighting district at Visitacion Valley. Owing to there being an error in the proceedings, Curran asked that he be allowed to withdraw the petition and that the resolution adopted by the board ordering the formation of the district be vacated. The request was granted on motion of MacBain seconded by Francis.

Curran thereupon presented a second petition in the matter which was accepted. A resolution fixing the time for hearing the petition was adopted on motion of MacBain seconded by Hickey.

Bids were sumbitted by McGarvey and Rice and by Robert Johnson for constructing the pavements in the sheriff's yard at the new jail and also the sidewalks and curbs in front of the building. The bids were referred to the jail committee.

The board adjourned at 12:15 to meet again Monday, April 2, at 10 a. m.

GREAT SHOW COMING

Without doubt, some of the most sensational, thrilling, death defying wild animal acts shown are presented by the Al. G. Barnes wild animal circus.

Over 1000 educated wild and domestic animals are used in giving the performance of this show—the greatest collection of educated animals ever assembled under one management. The Barnes circus was the original wild animal show and now holds the rank of being the largest aggregation of the character in the world, presenting as it does, more trained animals than all other shows combined.

Sixty-five sensational, amusing, amazing, thrilling acts are presented at each performance. These acts are given in two divisions, the wild animal acts in a large steel-barred arena in the center of the big tent, and those of the domestic animals in the regulation sawdust rings at either side of the arena. There's something doing in these two rings and the arena every minute of the three solid hours of entertainment.

The members of the Barnes animal acting troupe have been recruited from the jungles, plain, desert, forest ocean and homestead. Lions, tigers, elephants, leopards, jaguars, zebras, hyenas, camels, zubus, monkeys, apes ounar—outangs, dogs, horses, ponies, goats, seals and sea lions are members of the troupe—every one trained to perform, in fact every animal carried with this big show is an actor.

One of the greatest features of the show is the troupe of beautiful horses and ponies—550 in number, which for size, beauty and breeding are unrivaled in the entire world. These horses are all shown during the action of the show's program.

The most thrilling wild animal spectacle known is Pete Taylor's group of man-eating African lions—30 in number, which he presents in one act. Mille. Florine, with a group of Persian leopards and jaguars, and Margurite Riccardi's royal Bengal and Siberian tigers are also 'thrillers' of the first rank . Thirty bear actors among which is Big Bill, the wrestling grizzly, provide another exciting feature. A big herd of posing and comedy elephants also have a headline act.

Fifty comedy animals, including Danger, Dynamite, and Mileamint, unrideable mules, provide a clean line of fun.

A glittering, six-band, two-mile-long street parade is presented at 10:30 on Friday, April 6th. Doors open 1 and 7 p. m.

GREATER S. F. BILL TO PASS LEGISLATURE

The Assembly committee on constitutional amendment yesterday reported out with a favorable recommendation the amendment introduced by Assemblyman Frank Eksward, providing for the perpetuity of boroughs in San Mateo in the event of the annexation of that county by San Francisco.

The action marked the end of controversy between the San Francisco and San Mateo delegation over the proposed consolidation of the two counties. It has been agreed, as a result of a lot of work on the part of Eksward and Assemblyman J. J. Ryan of San Francisco that the enabling act calling for an annexation election, which was introduced by Ryan, shall also be reported out and passed, and that it shall not become effective until the adoption by the people of Eksward's district.

San Francisco has agreed to pay the cost of the consolidation election, and, in the event of success, San Mateo will stand its share of the expense.

HALFMOON BAY ITEMS

Rev. J. J. Sullivan, former pastor of Halfmoon Bay, now of Redwood City, with his assistant, visited old friends in Halfmoon Bay this week.

One of the largest sea trout ever known to have been caught in this part of the coastside was caught Thursday by John Merch Jr., who is a guest at the Patroni House, Princeton. The fish weighed over four pounds.

Much interest is manifested in the neighborhood of San Greogrio and Tunitas Glen lately. The Ocean Shore Railroad Company has surveyors laying out the land between the two places, and much speculative talk is indulged in. Pescadero is also on the quivive for "something doing."

Friends of Fred Wendt will be glad to hear that he is progressing rapidly and splendidly, and will soon be at his mother's home in Halfmoon Bay, while convalescing, before returning to his position in San Francisco with the American Trading Company.

Mrs. Sarah Emerson and daughtgr, Miss Margaret Conners, were guests at the home of Mrs. Archie McGinty the past weekend. Mrs. Emerson is a former resident of Halfmoon Bay and a loyal member of the Rebekah Lodge and comes all the way from Oakland to attend their semi-monthly meetings.

The famous Italian chef, "Chris" Patroni, who for years up to a few months ago, acted as chef at the Patroni House, has returned to his old culinary department again, and the word has been passed to the patrons of the Patroni House that the Italian eats there will be even better than before.

Editor Harr Wagner is still compelled to remain in the city to be near the doctor. The wounds on his head from the mastoid operations are slowly healing, but he suffers a great deal with them, and the daily dressings are very painful. He is able to be up a part of the time. One day he insisted on being taken to his office, where he dictated letters for an hour, but the effort was too great a tax on his strength.

Much complaint has been heard lately about the eel fishing grounds on account of the Italian gardeners going out at low tide and turning over the small rocks on the shore, spearing the little baby eels, using a table fork for their work. It was only yesterday that one of our fishermen found a sack containing more than 200 little eel. Probably the guilty party was frightened away by the approach of the game warden and ditched his catch on the bank, with the expectation of returning later for his illegal catch.

A warrant was issued in Justice of the Peace Seely's court Wednesday at Redwood City for the arrest of Justo Dellosa, a 21-year-old Filipino student at the University of California, who is charged with a statutory offense alleged to have been committed at Moss Beach last July. The warrant was served and the Filipino arrested on the campus at Berkeley the same day. Considerable excitement and much indignation was manifested in the Triangle when the real facts of the case became known, as the girl who swore to the complaint is known by almost everybody hereabouts, and had it not been that Dellosa left the coastside Wednesday morning, something surely would have happened. The girl in question is only 16 years old. She has lived at Moss Beach for a number of years and is respected by all.

PROBATE APPLICATIONS—

Frederick Engel has applied in the superior court for letters of guardianship upon the estate and persons of Frederick Kiel, M. T. Engel, and August A. Engel, minors. The estate consists of a certain interest in real property in San Mateo county. J. J. Bullock is attorney for petitioner.

TRUSTEES IN SESSION

Monday evening the board of town trustees met in regular session with all members present.

The American Cast Iron Pipe Co. was awarded an order for 2,300 feet of four-inch cast iron pipe and five four-inch tees for $1,372.11, as their bid was the lowest and best presented. Other bids were made by the United States Pipe Co., R. E. Allen, and Blair and Co., all of San Francisco.

A petition from residents on Vera avenue asking that the avenue be improved was laid over until the next meeting to afford officials time to investigate previous action on the matter.

Ordinance No. 177 regulating roller skating came up for final reading and was adopted. It forbids roller skating on all sidewalks and on the roadways of Main street, El Camino Real, and Broadway from Main street to the depot. It is hoped this ruling will prevent children from being hurt by automobiles in the congested district.

Care of fire hose and hose carts was given to the street department. It has always been taken care of by the water department but did not belong with other work in that department.

The board instructed Street Superintendent Dearborn to have the flood gates repaired at an expense of $68.

Resolutions of Intention changing official grades on Lincoln avenue for a sewer extension were adopted.

Trustee Merrill advanced a plan of using a large pump to flood Webster street fill and settle the earth so permanent improvements could be made. The board instructed the street superintendent to secure an engine and pump owned by the Geo. H. Irving company and flood the street with water from the creek.

City Attorney Mansfield stated that he had secured an amicable settlement of the frontage on Sequoia street soon to be improved.

U. S. ARMY MEN HERE SEEKING RECRUITS

Sargeant Allen and Private Duprey of the U. S. Army have established headquarters in Redwood City and with a well-equipped automobile are visiting neighboring town advertising every branch of the service and receiving applications for enlistment. Sergeant Allen says he is receiving encouragement everywhere he goes by young men desiring to enter the service to fight for their country. The two army men are making a tour of the state and will be here until next Wednesday when they will depart for San Jose. Both young men are making many friends here by their extreme courtesy and willingness to answer all questions.

A record crowd will be on hand as this is the first all night grand ball after the lenten season, and as there are no dances in the immediate vicinity on that night ,everyone will come to Redwood. Henry Martens has awarded a contract to L. Koenig for the erection of a dwelling and garage in Wellesley Park to cost $7785. The work must be completed in 90 days. Mr. Martens is the proprietor of the Enterprise Foundry at South San Francisco. Mr. Martens was formerly a resident of Wellesley Park but sold his home there some years ago.

The fifty thousand dollar five per cent bond issue voted for constructing the high school building in 1912 will expire in 1922. The district will then have paid the principal of $50,000 and interest in the enormous sum of $33,750, or for every dollar borrowed the district will have paid nearly 68 cents. Had the money been raised by a direct tax the taxpayers would have saved the $33,750. This certainly is a strong argument against bond issues.

DUCK HUNTING REMINISCENCES

Story No. Four by Claude Fox Depicting Game Bird Life On Bay and Marshes

Back in 1876, a gentleman, who's name I now cannot recall, left his Eastern home for a visit to California and finally located in this city. How many times I have blessed the day that man decided to travel west, for he brought with him one of the finest breech-loading shot guns I have ever had the pleasure of handling. As fate would have it, that gun was eventually to become my property. After a stay of several months here the man decided to return East and being short of ready cash, applied to my father for a loan of $50 pledging the gun as security for the money. Subsequently he wrote saying illness would prevent the amount being paid when it became due and asking father to keep the shot gun and call the debt square, which he agreed to do. From the moment I placed my eyes on that breech-loader I began to lay my wires for its acquisition. It certainly was a little beauty of 12 guage, made by W. and C. Scott & Sons of London, with 32-inch Damascus steel barrels, and a stock with a perfect drop that was just suited to my short arms.

Well the upshot of the matter was that I became so insistent on knowing who was to be the future owner of that gun that father promised to make me a present of it when I reached my twelfth birthday, which was then not a great ways off.

When I confided to "Bill" the glad news we held a small sized boys jollification and our friendship was thereupon cemented forever, for "Bill" well knew that when I became the owner of that gun, it was to be a sort of 50-50 matter between us. How we did plan for the future? If the ducks then breeding in the far north could have ever obtained half an idea of the seriousness of our intentions for their extermination the great majority would have passed on when it came time for the migratory flights, or else stopped long before they reached the marshes of this county.

My birthday, which occurred on the 13th of October, was fast approaching, and on a calendar which we had "Bill" and I figured out just how many days we would have to wait before the priceless treasure was to be at our disposal. Both of us well knew that by the middle of October the marshes and sloughs would be filled with wild ducks, as the market hunters the year before had been bringing them in for sale in September.

From a map which father let me have which showed the creeks, marsh and bay, we figured out the sloughs south of town where we expected to find our best hunting. How pround we would feel on that day when we were to start out on our first hunt down through the old Sweeney ranch, and how envious the other boys of our own age would be when we come marching in with the webfoots slung across our shoulders.

In fact we did so much planning and so much figuring, that the possibility of the keen and bitter disappointment which was so soon to be realized by both of us, never once entered our heads. It came, after all our waiting, like a clap of thunder out of a clear sky. The 13th of October arrived and that evening I was on my tiptoes with expectancy. It was not very long before I had settled down and was using my heels as well as my toes to move about and expectancy had vanished into thin air. How well I remember that night. After supper father and mother had adjourned to the sitting room down in the old home now owned by Mrs. Thorpe. I was sent for to come in. The fire in the hearth was burning very brightly, but there was a certain quiet or stillness in the room which seemed to spell disappointment the moment I entered. "Claude," my father commenced, "you know some little time ago I promised to give you the shot gun which I have when you were twelve years old." There he stopped, and I stood wondering whether father ever thought for a single moment that I had forgotten that promise. "But," he continued, "your mother and myself have been talking the matter over; you know you are yet quite young, not very large and we have thought it best to give you a watch for your birthday, and by the time you are thirteen you will have grown considerably, and you can then have the gun."

My heart had dropped nearly into my shoes, but when the watch was mentioned I was in high glee. Mother wished me to go down town on an errand for her, so tucking the time piece away in my pocket for fear the rain might injure it, I grabbed up an umbrella and started forth happy in the thought that I was the possessor of a watch, which I thought only grown up men should own, and with the knowledge that in another year the gun would be mine and "Bill" and myself could carry out the plans we had so carefully formulated, and which were so thoroughly shattered in a few brief moments.

Estate of Josephine A. Lodge, deceased. Account allowed and settled.

Matters of General Interest to Litigants Culled from the Public Records

Andrew Yanoff has brought foreclosure proceedings in the superior court against Jennie Silvernail and others to recover the sum of $225. He had previously assigned the policy to his friend, S. F. Molfino, without consideration, as alleged in the complaint, to defraud his creditors. The policy was taken out in the Hibernia Underwriters Agency of New York for $1,250. Plaintiff wants the court to declare the assignment to be fraudulent so that its judgment against Vernfngo may be satisfied.

TERRY-BRODERICK DUEL RECALLED

First Volume of Gazette Contains Late Supreme Judge Fox's Now Historic Record

There is much heated controversy going on at present in the San Francisco papers concerning the spot where the duel between Senator Broderick and Judge Terry took place near the shores of Lake Merced in the northern portion of San Mateo county. The Native Sons have marked a place with a suitable monument where the affair of honor is supposed to have taken place, but there are many who believe the location to be wrong and not where the noted duel was fought. Daniel Stafford, who, as a boy, witnessed the affair says it took place a mile and a half above where the Native Sons placed the monument. The Gazette of September 17, 1859 which was afterwards merged with the Times, contains an article on the duel written by Charles N. Fox, who was at that time the editor of the paper and later became a member of the supreme court of California. The duel was fought on Tuesday and the article was penned a few days afterwards and most likely some representative of the Gazette was present at the duel and made notes of the location. The article is herewith published in full. It may aid in establishing the exact spot where the affair took place. The article thowrs a new light on that historic event. The issue of the Gazette the week following contains a lengthy article on the funeral obsequies of Broderick, which article will be published in full next week.

Again has the moral sense of the whole community been shocked by an appeal to this barbarous code. Again have the laws upon our statute books been openly and shamefully violated. And this time, too, it has been done by men from whom, on account of their intelligence and high position, we should have looked for better things. Done, too, for no apparent cause, for if the statement which we give below from the Sacramento Bee is correct, and we believe it is, we defy any man to point out a reasonable excuse for the bloody affray—for it deserves no better name—which took place on Tuesday morning. D. C. Broderick, a United States Senator, and David Terry, a judge of the Supreme Court, have each forsaken their high position—trampled upder foot the constitution and laws which they had sworn to support—the one dishonored the mantle of a senator, the other disgraced the ermine of the Bench—and entered the ring next in the downward grade of human depravity to that of the pugilist, and upon the false-named field of honor, with weapons peculiarly adapted to the hand of an assassin, have sought to blot out, each in the other's blood, the little honor that yet remained to himself. Honor, indeed, on such a field!

"The mere word's a slave,
Debauched on every tomb; on every grave,
A lying trophy."

This duel had been for some time on the tapis, and during the first days of the week much anxiety was felt throughout the State to know the result. The parties met on Monday morning, near the Lake House, and had just got the preliminaries arranged when they were interrupted by the police of San Francisco, and required to appear before Judge Coon to answer for an attempt to fight a duel. The judge discharged them on the ground that "an attempt" was not punishable under the law. On Tuesday morning they again met, and this time succeeded in accomplishing their purpose. The weapons were Terry's own duelling pistols, set with hair-spring triggers, carrying half-ounce balls. The distance, ten paces. When the word to fire was given, from some cause (a dozen different ones are given) Broderick's pistol went off prematurely, taking effect in the ground. Terry took deliberate aim and fired, hitting his antagonist just above the right nipple—the ball passing around the front of the body, crushing the sternum bone, passing through the left lung and lodging under the skin near the left arm. Broderick fell and was soon removed to the house of Leonidas Haskell, where he was properly attended to. The wound was supposed to be mortal, but at this time (Wednesday afternoon), our latest reports are that he is still living, with some grounds to hope that he may recover. Terry immediately hastened across the bay, and overland to Sacramento. Much excitement prevailed in San Francisco, on learning the results of the contest, and the city papers are full of details of the tragic scene, but we have neither the space nor the desire to copy them. We regard the whole affair as a disgrace to our State, and to the parties engaged in it. The seconds of Terry were Calhoun Benham and Thomas Hayes—of Broderick, J. C. McKibbin and General Coulton. Of the origin of the difficulty the Bee says:

The facts are like this: The Anti-Lecompton State Convention of June last was held in this city (Sacramento) one week in advance of the Lecompton Convention. Judge Terry was a candidate before the latter for a re-nomination, and was defeated. On the last night of the sitting of that body, all the prominent defeated candidates were called to the stand, the Judge among them. He made a short spirited address, in which he said, among other things, after asking who was opposed to the party to which he belonged:

"They (the Anti-Lecompton) are followers of one man, the personal chattels of a single individual, whom they are ashamed of. They belong, heart and soul, body and breeches, to David C. Broderick. They are yet ashamed to acknowledge their master, and are calling themselves, aye forsooth, Douglas-Democrats, when it is known, well known to them as to us, that the gallant Senator from Illinois, whose voice has always been heard in the advocacy of Democratic principles, who now is not disunited from the Democratic party, has no affiliation with them, no feeling in comon with them. Perhaps, Mr. President and gentlemen, I am mistaken in denying their rights to claim Douglas as their leader. Perhaps they do sail under the flag of Douglas, but it is a banner of the black Douglas, whose name is Frederick, not Stephen."

Broderick had read this, and while at breakfast one morning, at the International Hotel, San Francisco, entered into conversation with those near him on the subject, and stated he had once expressed the opinion that "Judge Terry was the only upright man upon the Supreme bench, but he believed he would now have to take that back." Mr. Perley, a friend of Terry, once his law partner, took offense at this and replied sharply. Some further remarks were made and Broderick in the heat of the moment expressed his sorrow that the Vigilance Committee did not hang Terry when it had him in custody. The result was that Perley challenged Broderick, and the latter refused to accept on several grounds, and also stated that he would not accept a challenge from any person until after the election. On election day Terry in company with Perley, left this city for San Francisco, the Judge having first resigned his office. It was known on the boat going down that Terry intended to challenge Broderick.

The Judge, we believe, halted at Benicia, went to Stockton for his physician, Dr. Aylett, and left overland for San Francisco. Terry sent Broderick a peremptory challenge. Broderick, through his friends, desired to know the particular offense he had given, or the language he had used, to cause the challenge—and whether it had anything to do with his difficulty with Perley. The answer was, we hear, that it had no direct reference to the Perley matter but to the language used, about that time by Broderick in which he expressed his regrets that the Vigilance Committee had not hung the Judge. To this Broderick's friends replied that while he spoke thus in a moment of excitement, such were not the sentiments or the feelings of his heart; for he did not wish that body to hang any man, and that he was willing to acknowledge this publicly; but, as it was called out by what Judge Terry had said of Broderick at the Lecompton State Convention in Benton's church, Terry should also withdraw what he had said of Broderick upon that occasion. This Terry premptorily refused; hence, there was no course left but to fight.

All who have viewed the new machine, and this includes expert firemen from the San Francisco department, pronounce it one of the finest fire fighting machine in the state. The commissioners are now perfecting plans for the installation of additional fire hydrants in the district and at the same time arranging for a reliable fire alarm system. A centrally located and desirable motor engine room has been secured from the Menlo Park Garage.

HIS LIFE'S WORK NOW AT END

Veteran John Poole Obeys Call and Joins Silent Ranks of Comrades Gone Before

Odd Fellows Hall was crowded on Thursday forenoon with the many friends and admirers of John Poole whose funeral obsequies took place at that time under the auspices of Redwood City Lodge, F. and A. M., of which society the deceased was a member for a great many years, filling every office in the lodge during that time. The beautiful and impressive ceremony of the society was performed by W. A. Crowell. The ritual service was spoken softly but impressively by him and in a manner that found a responsive chord in the heart of everyone who heard him. Among those who were seated around the casket were members of the George S. Evans Relief Corps and members of the Eastern Star. The handsome casket was draped with the American flag. Rev. Mr. Stevens delivered a splendid tribute to the memory of the deceased. He spoke not as a clergyman but as a friend and neighbor. In part he spoke as follows:

"We have lost a friend and brother. We will miss his smile and his good cheer. He was one of the first to welcome me when I moved to Redwood City five years ago, he has continued to be a friend, always optimistic and kind. He loved horses and was an expert horseman, he loved children, a little girl said no more nickles from Grandpa Poole now. He loved his family, no man ever had a more loyal or true family. Her prayer was answered who desired to live and care for him by day and night until the last. No pair of sons could have done more than you have done, and daughters-in-law like Mary and Martha constant in attendance. He loved Redwood City and our climate. He never tired of boosting to friend and strangers the beauty of Redwood. He believed in God and recently said I shall soon be with my maker and creator, who said to him and you, 'I am the Resurrection and the Life; he that believeth on me, though he die yet shall he live, and whosoever liveth and believeth on me shall never die. For I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that He is able to keep that which I have committed unto Him against that day.'"

Mr. Poole had been ailing for some time with an heart affection and on Tuesday breathed his last.

John Poole was born in Clinton county, Ill., July 12, 1840. After spending the first 15 years of his life on his father's farm he left home and started to make his way in the world. For the first six years he followed various kinds of employment, being principally engaged in agricultural pursuits. With the opening of hostilities between the North and the South, his spirit of patriotism led him to enlist, and as a member of Company D, Fifteenth Illinois Cavalry, he served as first duty sergeant until 1864, during which time, at the battle of Fort Donelson, he was taken prisioner and confined to Libby prison for two weeks. Though wounded once, it was his good fortune to escape without serious injury.

At the close of the war Poole came to California, making the trip by way of the Isthmus. He followed ranching for a number of years, and then started a stage route over the mountains to Pescadero.

Following this he engaged in the express business in Redwood City, which he continued up to 1890, when he turned it over to his son.

Poole served as postmaster of Redwood City for five years under President Harrison. He was prominent in fraternal circles, being a member of the Masonic order, Odd Fellows, Red Men and General Geo. Evans Post, G. A. R.

He is survived by a widow, Mrs. L. Poole, and two sons, John W. Poole and Dr. George T. Poole of San Francisco.

PROMINENT LITIGANTS AND SUPERIOR COURT DECISIONS

On Saturday last Judge Buck rendered a decision in the case of E. S. Bell against Frances S. Howard that was submitted to him on February 23. The court gave judgment to plaintiff for the sum of $2,100 the amount sued for. In 1915 E. S. Bell, brother of Theodore A. Bell the noted politician and orator, appeared in the superior court of this county as attorney for Miss Frances S. Howard in her incompency proceedings. He was successful of clearing his client of the charge of insanity. He also appeared as her counsel the following year when she was declared incompetent. Mr. Bell was employed by Miss Howard to defend her and he was to receive the sum of $2,500 for his services. He secured $400 on account but no more. He sued for the balance and was given the full amount by Judge Buck on last Saturday. The court held that the charge was not excessive.

Harley-Davidson

With a sidecar (detachable in a few minutes) the Harley-Davidson becomes a family vehicle, a never-ending source of fresh air recreation—wonderfully soothing to tired nerves and muscles.

Considering all that the Harley-Davidson Motorcycle with sidecar will mean to you, it is really easier for you to own one than to do without. Arrange for a demonstration today.
